The girl I knew as Mary Smith is now Marie de Smythe. Her figure now is Junoesque. That once was trim and little. Her hair, which was a glossy black, is now the shade of gold. And the Western girl in English since she went abroad, I'm told. She was twenty when I knew her first. And now she's just eighteen. She's married, yet they call her "Miss." Whatever can it mean? ## EDITOR DANA QN ZOO GROVER.

How the "Sun" shone on the Democratic Candidate Last Year—A Year Ago.

New York Advertiser.—In February last B. J. Sheridan, through The Western Spirit, a newspaper published at Paoli, Miami county, Kansas, inquired of Charles A. Dana, editor of The New York Press, why he so bitterly opposed the renomination of Grover Cleveland for the Presidency. To which Mr. Dana replied in the following manner:

"I. Because Grover Cleveland is not a Jeffersonian Democrat."

"II. Because he is not a Democrat at all, but first, last and exclusively a promoter of Grover Cleveland."

"III. Because, though elected President of the United States as a Democrat, his administration was not conducted for the establishment of Democratic ideas or for the benefit of the Democracy, but for the personal aggrandizement of Grover Cleveland and the exaltation of his own propitious self-concept."

"IV. Because, in pursuit of his own cranky and whimsical notions, he adopted the anti-Democratic Chisler system of literary examinations as the test of admission into the civil service of the Government."

"V. Because he wrecked the Democracy in 1888 by interjecting into the platform the doctrine of Free-trade, to be realized through a Free-trade reform of the Tariff, to the exclusion of every other reform thereof."

"VI. Because he is now professing to be devoted to the anti-Democratic Australian scheme for the abolition of the well-established Democratic policy of universal suffrage."

"VII. Because, in the language of Mr. Tilden, 'he is the most selfish politician I have ever known.'"

"VIII. Because under his lead, if he could lead anything but the schemes of his own ignorant, narrow and fruitless mind, the Democracy would be led to fatal defeat."

And all that Mr. Dana said of Grover Cleveland then is true of Grover Cleveland now, and thousands of Democrats in this state believe precisely as he does. Mr. Dana has gone to Europe in order to be saved the ignominy and humiliation of supporting Cleveland; but he has left instructions that his newspaper is to keep up the fight against the awful force he spoke of.

MRS. HARRISON.

She Calmly Sinks Into the Eternal Sleep.

Softly the Watchers Proclaim That "She Is Dead."

To the Last the Great-Stricken Husband Stood by the Bed, and Asked: "How Many More—When the End Came He Sheds Irrepressible Tears."

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Mrs. Harrison is no more. At 1:40 a. m. Tuesday came the end.

For the second time in the history of the white house a president's wife has died within its walls.

Mrs. Harrison met death with the patience and resignation of a devout Christian, and her last days were comparatively free from pain.

For twenty-four hours the president and family had been almost constantly at her bedside, awaiting the end. Last night was without special incident, but late and early, so frequently that he could have slept but little at all, the president was in and out of the sick chamber and was never away for any length of time.

Mrs. Harrison at noon Monday was conscious. A little before the president of the United States, who had been wished for anything. With the old time smile that death only makes more tender and trustful, she answered, low but distinctly:

"No, dear."

At 1 o'clock Dr. Gardner said he did not think that more than four or five hours of life remained for Mrs. Harrison. He said that most of the time she was in a sleepy, unconscious condition, from which she occasionally rallied. During the moments of wakefulness she recognized those around her and sometimes responded feebly, but clearly and intelligently to inquiries.

A number of messages of condolence were also received. From 6 o'clock until well into the evening the president and all the members of the family remained unceasingly at Mrs. Harrison's bedside.

As the day waned and the unclouded sun sank behind the western hills, casting rapidly lengthening shadows across the white house lawn, the anxiety of the watchers became more intense.

The person about the bed moved stealthily across the halls and tesselated floors and dropped their voices into whispers when they spoke, even though far out of earshot of the stricken woman who lay quietly and with resignation awaiting the last call. The shadows deepened, the moonlight faded, the night came and in the south the new moon showed her sickle in the sky, and yet the end was not.

Among those who called during the evening were Secretaries Tracy and Noble, who have returned from Chicago; Judge Peck, Col. Ernest, Ex-Surgeon-General Brewster of the army, together with members of the diplomatic corps and the Rev. Dr. Hamlin and Mrs. Hamlin, of the Church of the Covenant, which President Harrison and wife have attended.

The measure of the ebbing tide was the respiration, which slowly sank from about 15 at daylight to 10 at midnight. The physician had said that if she died over that hour she might and probably would survive until daylight. So the quiet glances were cast at the clock which was steadily ticking away the life-time of the invalid and there was a sense of relief when the hands reached round 12, and one critical point was supposed to have been passed.

At 12:30 o'clock, while he sat by Mrs. Harrison's side with fingers lightly pressed to her pulse, his practiced hand noticed that the heart's work was beginning to cease. He notified the grief-stricken family grouped around the couch that the end appeared to be very near, and that unless she soon rallied from the stupor into which she then was drifting, she could scarcely live half an hour longer.

This intelligence had a most depressing effect upon the president, who had been in constant attendance upon his afflicted wife for over nine hours, and he sustained himself with the greatest difficulty.

If it were possible to add to the gravity of the situation and to stimulate the agonized apprehension of the sorrowing family gathered about the sacred, ailing form of the beloved wife and mother. Those results were attained when Dr. Gardner, after having examined the countenance and feeling the pulse of the dying woman, sorrowfully announced that all the indications justified the belief that she would not survive more than half an hour.

This was at 12:45 o'clock. The minutes passed with frightful rapidity; the hand pressed; then came 1:40—and all was over.

Mrs. Harrison was dead.

A Passenger Train Collides With a Locomotive.

Seven Lives Go Out and Fifteen Passengers Are Mangled.

The Accident Was Caused by the Engineer of the Locomotive Disobeying Orders. The Wreck Takes Fire After the Victims Have Been Removed.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 25.—The fast express train from Shamokin on the Reading railroad, due here at 9:30 o'clock, Monday morning, ran into a coal train in the West Manayunk tunnel and a frightful smash-up resulted. A number of persons are reported killed. The cars caught fire and are now burning in the tunnel.

The scene of the accident is at West Manayunk, a suburb of this city, about ten miles distant. It seems that the Shamokin express, due here at 9:30 and carrying a large number of passengers, was the ill-fated train. This train was only a few minutes from the station when it left the upper coal train on Monday morning loaded with workmen and laborers who are employed along the line and who were on their way to the Sunday's rest to go home on Saturday nights and spend the holidays with their families.

The story of the crash is not yet in town, but from rumors and scraps of information received by wire from points on the road north of the accident, it would appear that the engine had entered the tunnel at West Manayunk at regular speed and ran into a coal train. The first rumormonger to reach the city was to the effect that eight persons had been killed and a number injured. This was followed later by the more alarming statement that not less than twenty-eight lives had been lost. The figures arose to the appalling total of fifty-two killed.

Inquiry at the office of the road at Bryn Mawr and Calloway streets, met with no satisfaction whatever.

Undertakers' wagons and other vehicles from Manayunk were soon at the scene of the accident and willing hands quickly extricated from the mass of wreckage the dead, dying and maimed passengers. Up to noon at least thirty persons had been removed to St. Timothy's hospital at Roxborough, a short distance away. Ten dead bodies had been taken charge of by undertakers and that was reported to be the extent of the casualties resulting from the disobedience of his orders by the engineer No. 335.

Among the killed are: Thomas Welch, fireman of engine attached to passenger train.

John Kilbrin, brakeman on engine 335.

Three unknown persons, two of them supposed to be mother and daughter.

Among those injured is a Miss Sides. She had a leg broken and was taken to the hospital.

The official report says seven have been killed at the Manayunk tunnel accident.

Oldest Woman in Indiana.

TERRE HAUTE, Ind., Oct. 25.—"Auntie" Baldy, Indiana's oldest woman, reached her one hundred and third year of existence Monday. Last year and the year before celebrations were held in her honor, but this year she is too feeble to stand the strain. Mrs. Baldy was born in Saratoga, N. Y., in 1780, and settled in Terre Haute in 1810, three years after the city was founded. Her husband went down the Wabash in a flat-boat bound for New Orleans in 1820, and never returned. It was believed by some that he was killed by the marauding Indians. His wife never married again.

A Terrible Joke.

MILAN, Tenn., Oct. 25.—A horrible joke was perpetrated on the young man, Chestnut Bluff, on Saturday night. Some young men procured a coffin and marched Millington to a lone spot, where they buried the coffin. He did not disclose the whereabouts of a fictitious treasure, he would be buried alive. He refused, but in spite of his men he was put in the coffin and buried for an hour. When he was taken out he was a raving maniac. The assassins have fled.

It took the jury forty-eight minutes to decide Gordon's fate. The prisoner is 64 years of age.

Express Train Wrecked.

CHICAGO, Oct. 25.—The wreck of the Danville express on the Chicago and Eastern Illinois railroad at Forty-fifth and Wallace streets, Friday, October 24, last, resulted in the killing of one person and the injuring of eleven others. # THE YELLOW RIVER.

Fifty Thousand Chinese Reported Drowned in the Last Flood.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 25.—Letters from China bring reports of a record loss of life and property caused by the breaking of the banks of the Yellow river. It is only three years since the whole basin of the river was flooded, and now comes a new flood fully as disastrous as the other. It is estimated that the flooded district is 150 miles long by 30 miles wide. Over 50,000 people have been drowned and that fully one million will starve to death unless the Chinese government furnishes them food from next spring.

The figures furnish some idea of the enormity of the calamity, in which, in a single village, 5000 people were reported to have perished. The work of strengthening the embankment of the river was poorly done three years ago, and the high water of the season swept away the dykes as though they were made of straw. In several districts the water is fifteen feet deeper and whole villages are being washed away. Substantial structures resist the action of the water, the majority of the houses crumbling away and carrying the wretched people to death.

NEW ARMY BILL.

The German Soldiers Will Exceed Four Million.

BERLIN, Oct. 25.—Official details of the new army bill were published Monday. The peace effective October 1, 1908, will increase the German army to 408,000. The service of the infantry is generally reduced to two years. The adoption of this measure is necessary because of the increasing military power of Germany has gone. The war strength of France is placed at 4,000,000, and of Russia at 4,500,000. When the reorganization of the bill is completed the German army will have attained a strength of 4,400,000, whereas France will not be able to exceed 4,000,000. The bill will increase the power of the military authorities to keep men in the ranks until they have completed their third year of service. The bill also provides for officers for offenses under the military code.

CHRISTIANS.

Sensational Strife Between Them at Louisville.

Columbus and His Character the Subject of a Fierce War

Between Protestant Ministers and the Priests—Such Epithets as "Bastard-Liar," "Unworthy of the Support of Moral People," Etc., Being Used.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 25.—The echoes of the Columbian celebration of last Friday have stirred up in this city a religious strife that has grown to be decidedly sensational. It began Sunday a week ago, when a prominent minister assailed the Catholics for claiming so much credit in the discovery of America. This was followed last Friday by a sermon from Dr. Betts, an Episcopal minister, who styled himself "Father Betts." He attacked the Catholics in broadest terms, and Sunday Rev. J. L. O'Neill, of the Dominican church defended the Catholic church and from the pulpit denounced Father Betts as a liar. He quoted this from Father Betts' sermon: "Columbus must be to-day, if it is to be to-day, to end at the cost of a self-satisfaction of a religious body that claims him for its own, now that four hundred years have passed away; a body that ridiculed, disparaged and nullified him in the days of his struggle, but which to-day steps to the front and assumes all the honor due him."

Rev. McKnight, of the First Cumberland Presbyterian Church, denounced Columbus from the pulpit as a liar, a pirate, an associate of lewd women, a slave trader, a deserter of his wife, and a man utterly without one Christian principle. He said he was not to the discovery through an interest for science, but a sordid love for gold, and this hero worship was out of place. The Spiritualists held a Columbus meeting, "called down" the great mariner's spirit and "found" that he was laughing "in his sleeve" at the honors here in his memory.

WHITE HOUSE DEATHS.

Things of Sadness in the Present Age.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—The first death in the white house was that of President William Henry Harrison, on the morning of April 4, 1841, just one month after his inauguration. Mrs. Letitia Tyler, the first wife of President Tyler, who was elected vice-president on the ticket with Gen. Harrison, and who succeeded him as chief executive, died in the white house on the 10th of September, the next year, 1842.

The third death was that of President Zachary Taylor, who entered the white house, March 4, 1849. He lived only until July 9, 1850. His death was the result of a fever which he caught in the field, when he took part in the dedication of Washington's monument. Willie Lincoln, second son of President Lincoln, died in the white house in February, 1862, at the time when "Tad," the favorite son of the martyred president, lay seriously ill.

Frederick Dent, father of Mrs. U. S. Grant, who was a member of the presidential family from the time Gen. Grant entered the white house, died there December 15, 1878.

Mr. Eliza H. Allen, minister to the United States from Hawaii and dean of the diplomatic corps, was at the head of his associates, making his way to the president to present the members of the legations with their compliments, when he was smitten with heart failure. He fell on the floor, he was hurriedly borne into one of the parlors, and never recovered consciousness, and expired before medical aid could reach him.

When President Garfield fell with the assassin's bullet in his back he was conveyed to the hospice of the country. He died October 20, 1882, and remained there until carried forth to die at Elberon.
